Pinnacol's 2009 Annual Report, now available online, highlights stories from injured workers and their families. The result is a series of brief but moving stories about life after workplace injury from a young firefighter who was rendered quadriplegic, a widow struggling to raise three teenagers following their father's untimely death, and a construction supervisor whose working years were cut short. In addition to featuring these stories, the annual report provides important details about Pinnacol's 2009 financial performance.
