Steamboat Originals

Original and Traditional Cuisines

There's a lot to brag about in this small mountain town... (and the food is just the beginning!)

Take a bite out of the old west! Steamboat Springs has a wide range of eateries to choose from whether you are looking for something original or more traditional.

Our traditional burger joints and barbecue eateries are some of the best and most talked about in all of Colorado. Ribs that make your mouth water, sauces that stir the senses and backyard barbecue staples that make you feel like you are home (or just on a great vacation). Try out local favorites like BBQ pork sandwiches smothered in some of the best barbecue sauce anywhere, tender ribs that melt in your mouth or take part in "Wing Night" where all chicken wings are 33 cents. We also have hamburgers that will make you wish you were ketchup and mustard. We take our Western culinary heritage quite seriously.

For cuisine that ignites the senses and the taste buds, Steamboat Springs has a wide variety of top notch restaurants that will indulge your appetite. Steamboat's award winning restaurants will give you dishes that may leave you wondering, "When can we eat here again?" From entrées including the tenderest cuts of Kobe beef served with a range of sauces, fresh crab and tomato bisque made from scratch or even beef tournedos skillfully prepared with smoked tomato demi glaze and a porter cream sauce.

A new generation of restaurants is making its way onto the Steamboat culinary scene. This summer, Steamboat will welcome menus that expand our global realm. Mixing the old with the new, these new restaurants will add to the Steamboat experience. Keep a look out for the Bombay Grill (Steamboat's first Indian restaurant), the Drunken Onion (fresh, wholesome get-and-go meals), Big House Burgers, Boathouse Pub and Grill and the Ghost Ranch Saloon.

Is your stomach growling yet?
